John W. Flora To Address Agricultural Law Group

HARRISONBURG — John W. Flora, a senior partner with Lenhart Obenshain in Harrisonburg, will be a speaker at the American Agricultural Law Association's annual conference later this month in Williamsburg, according to an announcement by the law firm.

Flora

focusing on the legal issues affecting agriculture.

Flora has represented clients from throughout the industry, from independent farmers and agricultural cooperatives, to farm suppliers and a Fortune 500 poultry processing company.

Most recently, Flora has helped with the formation of several cooperatives and has assisted clients in the emerging field of alternative energy, including wind.
